My deepest condolences to Jenny's family and friends. Jenny will always have a special place in my heart. She was one of my first childhood friends - we rode bikes together, played kick the can, and shared pickle potato chips in Canada. Our lives were definitely intertwined for a while and I wouldn't have it any other way.

What a special lady, we met Jennifer not long after she was diagnosed with her cancer, my husband was also diagnosed with a soft tissue sarcoma in his thigh about the same time. We finally met while at The James, their chemotherapy overlapped a couple days each time we went for Steve's chemotherapy stay. She was so positive, so compassionate, so thoughtful and understanding of what we were going thru. She helped us with what to expect, as she was a few weeks ahead of Steve in her therapy. We soon looked forward to seeing her during these long difficult stays at The James. She helped us more than she ever knew, she was very special to us. Rest in Peace Jennifer, you will be missed. Prayers to her entire family.
