This is not how the circle of life should happen. No parent should have to carry the burden of losing a child. There are no words that can be spoken to ease the pain you feel in your heart. I have walked in your shoes and know how you are feeling. May God hold you in the palm of his hand.

Dear Robin and family. I am sorry to hear of Sarah's passing. I know she fought heroically against an illness that she was far too young to have to endure. Sometimes God calls good people to heaven earlier than we as family and friends would like. Hopefully over time you can take solace in that Sarah is celebrating her victory over her earthly challenges and you will see her again when she welcomes you to heaven down the road we all must travel. May peace be with you and your family...With Sympathy, Dr. Robert Woskobnick

I wanted to say how very sorry I am to hear of your families loss. In life there are blessings and times of sadness. These emotions seem on opposite end of the spectrum. I feel they are so intertwined, as if we didnt experience both we wouldnt have a true understanding of either. Though it can be more difficult our blessings are realized even more during sadness. I pray for you hearts and for all of your precious memories with your loving daughter to flood into your minds at this painful time. My parents have always cared for your family and Im happy to know you all. Prayers and loving thoughts being sent your way.

Sarah was a happy and beautiful soul who brought joy into this world and to all who knew her. We have not a single doubt that Our Lord and Savior will be abundantly Happy to look after your little Angel until such time that you will all be together again.
