It seems to often that death comes and take our love ones and friends, no matter how often it come we never get use to it, but God said in His word that it will be days like this. We must prepare ourselves to meet our Savior, Nick did just that sometime ago now he's resting in his Savior arms. No more pain everyday will be sweeter than the day before. So family we grieve with you Nick were a friend to many just remember that earth has no sorrow, that heaven can not cure. We will continue to keep you in prayer.
