Prayers for comfort during this time of grief and healing. Sue did not recognize me any day I visited but the last day she said "Sit down and stay with me" so I did. We held hands and I spoke to her about her dogs, cats, laying in the green grass with warm sunshine on us. She smiled and fell asleep. She seemed at peace.

all of our lives we look to God & yearn to be with him in the land He has promised us. Yet we also struggle to hold onto our life in this world- it is what we can touch & see. and when it is time to go home, we fear taking that step. I know that in her last days, Jesus took Sue's hand & was beside her in the valley of death. and she was not alone when she left this world & go to be with him. That is a WOW!! I am sad that she is not with us anymore. I know her brothers now have a sadness that will be, at times,unbearable but I know that she is happy & reunited with those who have been waiting on her. Sue was a sweet, gentle person that we have always thought of with fondness. God bless you Sue- you were truly a gift to us.
