Michael another year has gone by. Melody still cries for you. Life has been so hard for her being on her own. She looks for love but can not find another like you to love. She recently prayed to God and you to help find someone to love again and receive the same love in return. I know you are taking care of her and watching over her and the grown sons and their families. After Melody's pray a man has come into her life. I also am praying that she finds another love to hug her and tell her how much she is loved everyday. Michael we miss that smile that only you had and I miss teasing you about me trying to hug you. We love you and miss you are hearts are still broken but we know you are without pain and waiting with open arms to see us again.

Another year has gone by. You are still waiting for us I know to see each other again. I know you are forever watching over Melody and the boys and grandkids. Melody has had such a hard time since you have left. She has tried to find love after you but it has been hard to find a partner such as you were. You both were friends before boyfriend and girlfriend and then partners for life. She still cries and hinds it from many near her. I will say a prayer for both of you and I know you will send Hugs and Kisses in her dreams. Miss chasing you around for my hugs.

Its been tuff for Mel since you left but your presence is always around. I am sure you are watching over Mel and the boys. You sure would have loved playing and holding those grandbabies' but like I said you may not be there in body but you are forever in our minds. Especially during the holidays. You fought a long and hard battle to continue to be here but now you are without pain and smiling down upon us. I really miss following you around trying to hug you. I know I was aggravating but I really enjoyed those fun moments. We send our love to you and I for one can not wait until we are all reunited.

To my sister Mel and nephews. Mike will truly be missed by all who were able to meet him and catch a peek of his smile and laugh. I was blessed to have had him as a brother in law. I am truly sorry I was unable to be at Mikes funeral. There are so many memories I have of you and him together. The first being the picture that you had him stop and have taken by Marlene an you on the sidewalk in front of the neighbors. Michael stopped what he was doing so you could get that pic and of course that forever smile of his. Lots of love Shelley
