Nature
As a fond mother, when the day is o'er,
Leads by the hand her little child to bed,
Half willing, half reluctant to be led,
And leave his broken playthings on the floor,
Still gazing at them through the open door,
Nor wholly reassured and comforted
By promises of others in their stead,
Which, though more splendid, may not please him more;
So Nature deals with us, and takes away
Our playthings one by one, and by the hand
Leads us to rest so gently, that we go
Scarce knowing if we wish to go or stay,
Being too full of sleep to understand How far the unknown transcends the what we know.

Our heartfelt sympathy to all of you in the separation from Maxine. Many fond memories of our families gathering at Thanksgiving together. The men would always go rabbit hunting with Uncle Elmer and our father, Coral White. 'We' women would hold down the kitchen preparing the tons of food which primarily was cooked by Maxine's mom, Aunt Elsie. May our Lord give you all His grace as you go through this valley.
