I love my memories of Elogene. I was "little Sissy" and Gloria was "big Sissy" to her. I think I spent as much time at Elogene's in my childhood as I spent at home. She always treated me and my brothers as if we were just another one of her own. God be with you Bill-Bill and Sissy, your mother was a real jewel and such a wonderful soul. I know she is an angel and will be there in heaven to welcome my mother soon. They will be dear old friends reunited. Love, "little Sissy"

Grandma always knew how to make you laugh. She really knew how to make you smile too. She always had a smile on her face, she was always happy! She NEVER had a bad thing to say about anyone, or anything! Last time I saw her in late July, she talked about loving life. She was a positive person, she never brought up anything negative. She loved to have us over, she would make us feel at home. To me, it's going to be sad going through Newark, and not being able to visit her. I'll miss that smile, and the kindness she brought to her home. I do believe it was her time. She can be with my Grandfather, and her other children. Also her parents & siblings, and her husbands. I feel she's at peace, and home! RIP Grandma Elogene, I'll never forget that walk we took together. I'm happy you are with your loved ones!?
